

Permission to broadcast market reports during the coming harvest season has been asked by the Federal Radio Commission by the State Department of Agriculture, according to the announcement of G. H. Hecke, director of the department. A short wave length radio station now maintained by the State Fish and Game Commission in the capitol extension buildings at Sacramento would be used to broadcast the reports.

Pest control in Orange county orchards will cost over $1,000,000 for the year, it is estimated by A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner. Last year the expenditure was approximately $900,000. Double treatment for black and purple scale, whereby both spraying and fumigation are employed, along with increased acreage in the Santa Ana section, is responsible for the increased outlay, Brock said.

The annual battle to control scale in the citrus groves of the Redlands district is under way. Fifteen crews of fumigators enlisted in the war are putting tents over the trees and filling them with deadly gas. It is estimated that 4000 acres in the district be covered this summer. Walter Hadley and W. O. Cook, who are in charge of the fumigating for the county in the district, expect this to make a good clean-up.

W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, will not be able to visit in California this month as was planned. Jardine was obliged to cancel his call to this state because of ill health. G. H. Hecke, state director of agriculture, has been informed of the change in Jardine's plans, which were brought about under the advice of his physician.

A $625,000 plant to manufacture paper from waste rice straw will be erected immediately on a 25-acre tract in Richvale, Butte County. The plant will be built by the Pacific Coast Pulp & Paper Company, a Delaware corporation with a capital stock of $1,500,000, fully paid in. The plant will employ 100, with a payroll of $18,000 monthly. It will utilize rice straw, formerly a waste product, in the manufacture of paper, being the only plant outside of Germany to utilize the process. It is expected to double the returns from Butte County's $4,000,000 rice crop.

Refrigeration charges on melons and lettuce moving from the Imperial Valley in California and the Salt River Valley region of Arizona, were ordered reduced recently by the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, effective August 15, to a basis of refrigerating charges of like shipments from the San Joaquin Valley. At present refrigeration charges on Imperial and Salt River Valley products moving eastward are on an average of $30 higher than on melons and lettuce moving from the San Joaquin Valley. Growers complained that this difference is unreasonable.

Representatives of peach growers' associations, canners and co-operative canneries met with Governor Young's peach conference committee at San Francisco last week in an attempt to reach a satisfactory agreement concerning the 1928 crop of canning peaches. It was indicated that the price of $25 a ton, demanded by the growers, will be met, but that at this price the entire crop will not be packed. Each orchard, it is expected, will be able to dispose of 5 per cent of its total tonnage, leaving about 15 per cent of No. 1 fruit which will not be purchased. On this basis it is expected that growers will receive between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 more for their crop than they received last year. In determining what percentage of the yield orchardists may dispose of, it was announced, the Governor's Peach Crop Survey Committee will remain active.

Chief among the problems facing sheepmen today, is that of reducing the cost of his product. R. F. Miller, of the University of California college of agriculture at Davis, told a group of nearly 1500 wool growers and their friends at the annual sheepmen's field day held recently at Burris park, Fresno. Prices will not always stay at their present level, wages show little prospect of declining, and availability of feed probably will not increase, Mr. Miller pointed out, adding that it behooves the sheepmen to watch his operating costs.

Golden State News of Interest to All

California concerns that contract to bury their clients in event of death and give perpetual care to their resting places are under the jurisdiction of the State Insurance Commission. It was ruled recently by the State attorney general's office. The attorney general held that such contracts, when executed prior to the client's death, are in effect insurance policies.

With 326 of State parks suggested, a majority of them in Southern California, Governor Young's park commission believes sentiment in favor of the $6,000,000 park bond issue to be voted upon next November sufficiently strong to insure passage of the issue by an overwhelming majority. The surveying is still continuing, and probably as many as 700 sites for preservation under the State system will have been suggested by election day. Inasmuch as most of the suggestions are coming from organizations rather than individuals, their number can be considered a barometer of interest, according to Fred G. Stevenot, director of natural resources.

Crowded conditions at the State hospitals for mentally diseased, reported to Governor Young by Earl E. Jensen, director of institutions, presented one of the problems to be considered in preparation of the next administration budget. The six mental hospitals now are housing 13,387 patients, or 1,630 more than capacity, Jensen said. There is room for further expansion, however, and a building program is hoped for, he said, which will ultimately bring each of the six institutions to a maximum population of 3,000. That maximum will be reached by 1935, Jensen estimated, necessitating a new State hospital. Southern California, he said, particularly needed an additional institution.

War on California motorists who fail to place their license plates in a visible position was declared a few days ago by Frank G. Snook, chief of the State Division of Motor Vehicles. State traffic officers were called upon for strict enforcement of the motor law section which forbids the obscuring of license plates and it was announced that persistent violators will be prosecuted.

Damage from fires, which got beyond the control of State crews, burning grass along the State highway, will be paid for by the State, according to the announcement of A. R. Herron, director of the State Department of Finance. Payment in three cases where such fires have invaded neighboring grain fields already has been ordered paid.

A score of persons were injured, two seriously, when the Southern Pacific's Shoreline Limited crashed into a freight train in the Bayshore Yards, South of San Francisco. Slight hope was held for the recovery of the engineer and fireman, both badly scalded. Others of the train crew and passengers were treated for burns and bruises at the scene of the accident. The train was heavily loaded with holiday travelers. It left San Francisco at 8 a. m. Many of the passengers were at breakfast and were tumbled into the aisles amid broken dishes. A panic was narrowly averted by quick action of the train crew, who succeeded in quieting the hysterical passengers.

Faced with the industrial maxim that "youth must be served," middle-aged workers in some parts of California are dyeing their hair to hold their jobs. This was disclosed by Will J. French, State director of industrial relations, in an attack last week on "the growing tendency to keep lowering age limits for those in or seeking employment." He reported the problem to Gov. C. C. Young. The policy of naming a maximum age—say 35 years—for prospective employees is "anti-social," French declared. "Some wage earners," he said, "are known to be adopting what has usually been considered an exclusively feminine line of defense, so that premature or otherwise gray hairs will be discernible."

Wealth per pupil in the elementary schools of the San Francisco Bay area is above the $12,000 mark in each of the nine principal cities. Comparing true wealth in each community with average daily attendance records in the schools the State Department of Education made that assertion last week. Average wealth back of each student in grammar grades was listed as follows: San Francisco, $34,266; Alameda, $15,275; Berkeley, $19,798; Piedmont, $32,046; Richmond, $20,725; Sallinas, $12,967; San Jose, $17,055; True wealth standing behind every boy and girl in high schools of the same nine cities was also estimated: San Francisco, $114,667; Alameda, $37,666; Berkeley, $40,192; Oakland, $54,593; Palo Alto, $40,711; Piedmont, $42,379; Richmond, $82,861; Sallinas, $66,836; San Jose, $33,904.

POLICE ZONING IS DISCUSSED

Chamber of Commerce held a busy session Monday evening. Following some discussion the watchman committee, B. O. Curry, G. E. Farley and Dr. W. I. Merrill, was instructed to secure information and data concerning the formation of a "police zone" whereby a better and larger system of protection could be maintained by a small tax on all rather than a larger subscription by a few. Petitions are being drawn up to circulate in this region asking the Supervisors to rename the (much-named) highway east and west of Campbell that are now causing so much confusion to residents and visitors. G. E. Farley of the highway committee is out looking for helpers to circulate the petitions.

Rev. J. H. Bennett and H. M. Shadle were elected to membership. The committee chairmen were urged to meet in session with their assistants to work out their department problems, thereby creating a livelier interest in community betterment.

California total estimated daily average crude oil production fell off 3,500 barrels during the week ended June 30, figures released by the American Petroleum Institute show. The total estimated daily average crude oil production for the week of the report was 642,000 barrels as against 645,500 barrels for the preceding week.

State Corporation Commissioner J. M. Friedlander has been selected president of the western division of the National Association of Securities Commissioners, and the next convention will be held in San Francisco, according to word from a Seattle meeting of the organization held last week. Howard C. Ellis of San Francisco, assistant State commissioner, was elected association secretary.

There are more than 250,000 big game animals in the eighteen national forests of California. This is according to the 1927 census of wild life taken by rangers of the United States Forest Service and just released by S. B. Show, chief of the California district. The census shows that there are 121,700 blacktail deer, 117,000 mule deer, 10,300 black and brown bears, 680 mountain sheep and 125 elk in the federal forests of the State.

Firemen on the Sacramento division of the Southern Pacific will receive $25,000 in back pay as the result of a settlement reached in Chicago between the roads and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Locomotive Engineers. A. A. Hern, assistant general manager of the company, announced last week. An increase of 6 1/2 per cent in pay has been agreed to, effective as of August 1, last. A similar increase for the engineers of the division will be effective from May 1, last.

"All steel" railroad trains on California roads will be all in reality within three years if a campaign undertaken last week by the transportation division of the Railroad Commission proves effective. In letters addressed to railroads operating throughout the State the commission asked that buffet and day-coaches of wood be replaced as soon as possible. The three-year limit was placed on replacements. The request for abandonment of wooden cars is a result of several years of study of transportation accidents.

This story may sound "fishy," but the "top minnow" actually has come out on top in its fight on California malaria. The "top minnow," or scientifically speaking, the "gambusia affinis," was imported to California from Texas several years ago and has been waging a relentless war on mosquito larvae ever since. Last week the State Department of Public Health announced: That 121 persons died of malaria in California during 1911. That there were only 15 deaths during 1927.

San Miguel Mission, founded in 1797, and Mission San Antonio, founded in 1771, this week go back into the hands of those that built them—the Franciscan Fathers. For the first time in 87 years the Franciscans will have full control of the historic structures made possible by them, and they are preparing to try and finance the restoration of the two missions that lie between Santa Barbara and Paso Robles, it was stated. Mission San Miguel is in a good state of preservation and is the only old California mission where the original mural decorations have been preserved. Mission San Antonio, 40 miles northwest of it, is in considerable disrepair and much money will be needed, the Franciscan Fathers say, to properly restore it.

OPENS CAMPBELL OFFICE

The P. G. & E. has established a local office in Campbell with the Campbell Water Co. next to the I. O. O. F. Hall, where patrons may sign up for meters for electricity or gas, and also pay their bills if they miss the collector.

This will be a great convenience to people here who have had to go to San Jose to transact their business.

KIWANIS MEMBERS TOLD OF TRAVELS

Roy Archibald, banker, coupon clipper and hemisphere trotter gave Kiwanians an interesting travelog Tuesday evening. His trip took him to Vancouver, Canada and East to Halifax. He visited Boston and now "knows beans." New York, Philadelphia, Washington, and other Eastern Villages were favored with calls.

H. C. Smith gave a review of his excursion to Crater Lake with the California Press Association in June. The boosters of Ashland, Medford and Klamath Falls, as well as the lodge came in for considerable praise for their genuine neighborly spirit.

Doc Beall learned his lesson well while in the pill business, "Ge the Kale." He did.

Nicsoren Hedegard furnishes the program for ladies' night picnic dinner next Tuesday. Won't that be "fine."

Attorneys Bohnett, Hill & Campbell have moved their offices to rooms 807-811, First National Bank Building, San Jose, where they are holding daily receptions for their clients, old and new.

CONSOLIDATED PLANS STATE FAIR EXHIBIT

That Santa Clara County will have a very excellent and diversified exhibit at the State Fair at Sacramento in September was the consensus of those present after reports had been made by the committee in charge of the exhibit to the regular meeting of Santa Clara County Consolidated held at the Black Cat Tea Room in Los Gatos, last Tuesday at luncheon.

"Upon the organization's recommendation we are planning to feature our prunes in our county exhibit and will again give away prunes stuffed with peanuts," Dr. W. I. Wilcox, chairman of the committee, said. "We are also trying to select the very finest quality of pears, dried fruits, fresh apricots, walnuts, apples, tomatoes, and other products for which this section is famous."

"Every county in the Southern section of California is to be represented again this year, we learned from the fair manager, Charles W. Paine, while this committee visited at Sacramento recently. In addition to those counties which have been represented at the fair for a number of years, three counties are seeking space this year and we were informed that space was very much at a premium and that some may be forced to exhibit on the balcony of the building."

Miss Donna Winning, president of the Los Gatos Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the members to Los Gatos and reported on success of "Tahsilda," the ninth annual pageant given in the Gem City.

Requesting that the various secretaries complete the industrial survey in their respective communities, Will Ellis Miller of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce pointed out the importance of the statistics. He said that copies of the survey could be sent to each community as soon as it was completed.

The meeting was marked by the attendance of five county officials, each of whom was called upon for a few remarks by President Wendell Thomas. Supervisors C. P. Cooley, A. L. Hubbard, Joseph McKinnon, County Auditor Arthur Langford and County Surveyor Robert Chandler were the officials.

Russell Pettit of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce and in charge of collecting and arranging the county exhibit has been visiting growers throughout the county during the past month, selecting specimens of fruit and placing them in cold storage. He requested that anybody having knowledge of fine quality of fruit to contact with him in San Jose.

Supervisor J. M. McKinnon recommended the county exhibit saying that it was not only a good thing for the farmers, but for the entire county as an advertising feature.

On the suggestion of Frank Staniford of Gilroy it was moved and passed that a resolution of appreciation and sympathy be sent to W. F. Powers' family for his remarkable work in connection with the annual Santa Clara Prune Week which he so ably conducted on behalf of Consolidated during his lifetime.

It was decided that the next meeting would be held at Santa Clara on Tuesday, August 7.

Those present were: Miss Donna M. Winning, Mrs. I. L. Colbath, and Miss Pauline Meeks of Los Gatos; Mrs. L. N. Scott, Supervisor J. M. McKinnon and J. U. Higinbotham of Saratoga; Max J. Crow and Frank Staniford of Gilroy; O. R. Prien of Morgan Hill; G. E. Farley and B. O. Curry of Campbell; Supervisor C. P. Cooley of Palo Alto; Claude Redwine and J. V. Manfredi of Mountain View; Miss Bernice Downing and Dr. W. I. Wilcox of Santa Clara; and Supervisor Al Hubbard, County Surveyor Robert B. Chandler, County Auditor Arthur B. Langford, W. E. Miller, Wendell Thomas and Russell Pettit of San Jose.

Mr. Jones, master of Morgan Hill Grange, was at Orchard City Grange Tuesday evening and spoke on the tax payers' meeting to be held before the Supervisors next Monday at 10 a. m. He said there were many inequalities in our assessments, mentioning several of very striking character, but the assessors and Supervisors were not criticized for they favored and encouraged any action looking toward a more equitable adjustment of taxes.

The grange orchestra, now numbering 11 musicians, rendered several selections to the delight of a present.

Hon. Arthur M. Free was present and gave an address on the work of Congress during the last session, devoting some time to the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill which was passed by both branches of Congress, but vetoed for the second time by the President. However, he thought some relief measure was sure to become law in the near future.

Some 16,000 bills were presented to the last Congress and over 600 were passed and became law.

To gain a fair knowledge even of the bills that are reported out of committee and give intelligent action on them requires an enormous amount of study and time.

Tariff is one of the most beneficial pieces of legislation for the Pacific Coast. The new shipping vessels equipped with modern cold storage will do much to aid the sale of California fresh fruits. Plans are now under way to ship pre-cooled fresh, ripe prunes to relieve the dried fruit over-stock. The national government departments have been very active and interested in these experiments which mean so much to the grower.

The government through a commission has limited the radio broadcasters in order that the public may have free range to tune in.

Mr. Free stated that he believed that the Boulder Dam bill would pass at the next Senate session if our Senators could hold out in the contest waged against it.

He stated that the engineering feat of the Mississippi flood control when completed would be the greatest in the world.

Mr. Free has done much in Congress to serve the growers of his district and the grangers thoroughly appreciate his efforts in their behalf.

"OPEN HOUSE" AT WATER CO. PLANT

The Campbell Water Company's new plant on South First street has been completed and presents a very attractive appearance.

Next Monday and Tuesday from 5 to 7 o'clock p. m. the company will hold open house to all who care to look over the plant. And some one will be in attendance to explain the system.

The company has expended a large sum of money in erecting the new tank and pumping houses and those who are interested in the utilities which supply their daily needs will enjoy a visit to this model institution.

Chance For a Fortune

A fortune awaits the inventor who can produce a "non-losable" golf ball. Our golfers tell that one reason why golf is not exactly a poor man's pastime, is the expense of the balls. If you lose a ball you are out of pocket anywhere from 75 cents to a $1.50, depending on the brand of ball you smite and golfers do lose balls galore. Recently it was announced that some one had invented a perfumed golf ball, which the caddy could locate by its peculiar smell. Another person has brought out a bright yellow golf ball, which might be mistaken for a dandelion on the greens. Other inventors are busy and very probably some one will produce the real article. And when he does what about the little caddy, who now enjoys a handsome revenue for recovering lost balls. Won't he then go on a strike for bigger wages when this happens. Not being a golfer the problem is too complicated for our muddled brain.

Wrong Again

Now it seems we Americans do not use our knives at the table enough. There was a time when our cousins over the water thought we swung a wicked blade and feared some of us would cut our bloody throats. So etiquette decreed that to eat our pie or raise the little round pea on the knife blade was an indication of plebeian ancestry or worse. They made us so ashamed of the custom of our ancestors that we all but discarded the use of the open blade. And now our cousins over the water tell us that we are all wrong again, and we should keep the knife in hand from first course until last even if we don't use the dangerous utensil.

It has been observed abroad that Americans eat their salad with trusty forks and so waiters taking their tip from their clients, who were liberal with their tips, began to serve this course without knives. And this innovation over there exposed us to all Europe, and we are now reminded that we are the only people in the wide, wide world who don't use their knives throughout the meal. Americans were brave enough to enter the first line trenches, and when called upon to dash over the top in face of a withering fire, but are they brave enough to leave their knife on the plate when the salad is served. If you don't think this will take courage wait and see how tourists, after a year abroad, perform at the table.

The assessed valuation of San Francisco property for taxable purposes, is estimated by the assessor at $804,000,000, which is a gain of $21,000,000 over a year ago. Now we want to hear from Los Angeles.

Compound Interest Works Unceasingly

THE story of the child's six copper coins, unearthed from the debris of ancient Carthage, is frequently quoted to emphasize the amazing possibilities of compound interest. It has been calculated that the coins would today amount in dollars to a sum represented by 36 followed by 59 ciphers if they had been earning compound interest from the year 500 B. C. The figure is beyond comprehension, but it suggests how money grows when usefully employed. Gratifying results reward the efforts of systematic savers whose money in American Trust Company savings accounts earns four per cent interest, compounded semi-annually.

Farmers' Automobile INSURANCE AT COST

The farmers of California have organized their own co-operative automobile insurance company to carry their insurance at absolute cost.

Here's the Facts
Will save 50 per cent or more.

The FARMERS' AUTOMOBILE INTER-INSURANCE EXCHANGE is another step in cooperation among farmers of California. It was organized in response to a general demand for an automobile insurance that a farmer can afford to carry. The farmer has realized for years that he is paying too much for his automobile insurance, and due to the cooperation and support of a large number of California farmers, it is now possible, through the Farmers' Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange, to carry this insurance at actual cost!

A New Special Parcel Post Service

"Under a new law enacted by the last Congress and made effective on July 1, 1928, a new service was created with reference particularly to the expeditious handling and delivery of parcel post. While this new service is called 'Special Delivery,' it has the effect of making all classes of mail except the first, namely the second-class mail, the third-class mail, and the fourth-class mail, all have the same expeditious treatment as first class mail in transit, plus special delivery at the office of the addressee by marking the same 'Special Delivery' and placing on such mail the following postage in addition to the regular postage, namely, 15c on matter weighing not more than two pounds; 25c on matter weighing more than two pounds but not more than ten pounds; 35c on matter weighing more than ten pounds.

"It is necessary to put on the additional postage as above stated and mark it 'Special Delivery.' It is a combination of former 'special-handling' service and the 'special-delivery' service. It will be seen that the combined service now is cheaper than the sum of the cost of the two former services.

"Mailers desiring 'special-handling' service in transit without 'special delivery' at the office of the addressee may, if they desire, secure this service at the following rates, namely, 10 cents on parcels weighing not more than 2 pound; 15 cents on parcels weighing more than 2 pounds but not more than 10 pounds; 20 cents on parcels weighing more than 10 pounds.

"There is no 'special delivery' now which does not carry with it also special handling in transit, so that if the mailer purchases special-delivery service now as above specified he thereby secures also special-handling service."

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

A certain young man was recently speeding merrily along the road when he caught up with a party of children on their way to school. He asked them if they they cared to ride, and for an answer they piled into his Ford, until it was completely filled that one little girl had to sit on the driver's lap. She was a plump little thing and the driver cuddled her close to keep her away from the steering wheel. "Do you like school?" he asked her.

"Yes, sir," she lisped. "Do you go every day?" "I haven't missed a day this year," the little girl replied.

"Good little girl!" said the driver, kissing her soft cheek. "Do you like your teacher?"

"Yes, sir," said the girl, "I'm the teacher."

And the Ford darn near went into the ditch!

The Marysville district this year will produce more than 180,000 bushels of peaches, about half of the total State tonnage. Canneries will start operating about July 15, it is reported, with crop conditions good and well advanced.

Two carloads of grapes sent east recently from Santa Clara county have been the first made shipments of that fruit from Southern California this season. The grapes were grown on the Indian Head ranch, the property of George J. Jones.

Approximately 75,000 tons of grapes will be shipped from Stanislaus county this season, statistics announced recently by shippers and growers there. About 500 cars will move the fruit. Stanislaus ranks top the list, it is estimated, with 13,000 cars will be shipped from that county. Stanislaus will aggregate 1,000,000 bushels of grapes, and 1,000,000 bushels of peaches. The total value of the crop is estimated at $4,000,000.

The California Livestock and Baby Beef Show to be held at the Union Stock Yards, South San Francisco, November 18th, 14th and 15th is creating a wide interest among the livestock producers and public generally throughout California and the International territory. Leaders in science, agriculture, and industry, realizing that no system of agriculture can long endure without crop rotation and livestock, feel that the establishment of an annual livestock show at South San Francisco will encourage diversification and a more equalized distribution of livestock. One of the main purposes of the show is to encourage the feeding and better finishing of livestock and the November exhibition will feature individual and car lot entries of fat cattle, sheep and at the seventy-fifth anniversary of the organization of the California Agricultural Society, members of the board of directors of the organization will hold an outdoor luncheon meeting at the California Botanic Garden at Mandeville Canyon, near Los Angeles, on the 13th inst., according to an announcement made last week by R. A. Condee, president of the society. The directors will come from all sections of the State, assembling the 11th inst. at a barbecue to be given at the Bittley ranch in Long Beach. The society was organized in San Francisco shortly after the famous gold rush of 1849 and is the second oldest agricultural organization in the country.

Green fruit shipments from California this season exceed shipments made in 1927 and 1928 during the same period, but fall below the 1926 mark. This is revealed in a report made by E. L. Frary, general agent of the Pacific Fruit Express Company. A total of 2,965 cars have been shipped from California this season by the company while in 1928 the company handled 4,218 cars. The 1927 mark was 1,738 with 2,199 cars being sent to eastern markets in 1925. Plums and pears are now being moved. Newcastle has sent twenty cars of plums while Loomis has led eighteen refrigerators with the same fruit.

NOW CO-OPERATIVE AUTO INSURANCE

California farmers for several years have been demanding co-operative insurance on their automobiles, and through organization, this group method of protection has finally been made possible. Operation is based purely on co-operation and follows a plan which gives the farmer insurance at cost.

Under the plan of automobile insurance as adopted by the Farmers' Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange, the farmer carries his insurance at actual cost and experience has shown that he can effect a large saving, as much as 50 per cent or more of what he has been paying in the past.

The company has fully complied with all the laws of the State of California and has been given the o.k. of its insurance commissioner, Hon. Charles R. Detrick. It has shown a most remarkable growth and at present has a monthly premium income in excess of $15,000, which speaks well for the future of this organization.

UNION MEETINGS PROVING POPULAR

Last Sunday's social hour and services was probably the biggest thing yet attempted in Campbell along the union lines and met with a great response. Over 100 took part in the social hour and afterwards many of the younger friends coming from all over the State filled the choir seats to lead the singing.

Every one is invited next Sunday. Come early as a big crowd is expected. Tell your friends and bring along another with you.

Tonight at 7:30 in the Methodist Hall a social will be held for the young friends who have come among us. All are welcome.

The first carload of dates ever shipped in the United States left India recently for New York City, over the Southern Pacific Railroad. The fruit went in a refrigerator car direct from the cold storage plant of the Deglet Noor Date Growers' Association to another such plant at the eastern terminal. The shipment, in ten and twenty-pound packages, was made to a distributor who has established a business in California Deglet Noor dates in New York, Florida and other Eastern States.

Cattle are dying, crops are burning and farmers are facing heavy losses and some of them ruin in many parts of Mexico as the result of one of the worst droughts the country has ever known. A survey by the newspaper Excelsior reveals this. Conditions are worst in the central states, the grainery of Mexico, where, Excelsior says, the corn crop is almost ruined, and in the cattle and grazing regions to the north, between Mexico City and the border. Some of this territory has had no rain to speak of for a year, and none of it much rain.

American aid toward solution of some of Germany's dairying problems will be furnished when C. E. Gray of San Francisco arrives with a party in Berlin later in the month. Gray is president of the Golden State Milk Products Company and a director of the Pacific Slope Dairy Association. The request for counsel came through Dr. George Solmsen of the German joint committee. The improvement of quality and the development of factors which will stimulate consumption are the phases of dairying on which Gray's advice is sought.

The terminal charge of 3 cents per hundred pounds on California oranges shipped to New England points has been cancelled, resulting in an annual saving to growers of about $35,000, it is announced by C. O. Cornwell, traffic manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and chairman of the traffic committee of the California Citrus League. This action definitely establishes the $1.55 rate on oranges to all Eastern points, a similar terminal charge at New York and Eastern Canadian points having been cancelled last year with a saving to growers of $100,000 annually.

The demand for babies to adopt in California during the past year was far in excess of the supply, and as a result 421 couples were unable to find orphans to take into their homes. These facts were revealed a few days ago in a report of the Native Sons and Daughters' central committee on homeless children, dealing with the fiscal year ending April 1st. The report set forth that 621 homes sought to adopt children, but only 200 orphans were available. Prior to April, 1927, the report revealed, 6,903 homes had been offered for homeless children, while altogether 2,390 orphans were adopted.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY ON BUILDING AN INCOME

As Aunt Emmy came out of the savings bank she met young George Oliver.

"Well, well," he said, "it's funny to see you coming out of a savings bank, Aunt Emmy. I thought only poor folks like me had money in savings banks—people like you just clip coupons!"

"Have you a savings bank account?" countered Aunt Emmy.

"Well, er—I suppose I haven't," he admitted. "You see, it's hard to save money when you're first married. Somehow there never seems to be enough money to go 'round—let alone to put in a savings bank."

"You never will have if you don't get started," interrupted Aunt Emmy. "You should make your weekly savings deposit, no matter how small, the first claim on your salary after paying your bills. I make my weekly deposit in this bank faithfully—I put away a certain sum regularly."

"You can!" Nat commented.

"It is more a habit than you would suppose," Aunt Emmy continued. "Any one can do it who is willing to let other things wait. I began putting a little money in a savings bank years ago when it was no joke to save a few pennies. I remember what a wonderful thrill I got the first time I saw my interest entered in my bank book. There was money that my money had earned all by itself. After that it was a sort of game with me to put a certain sum in the bank, even if I had to do without things I would have enjoyed having. Now I realize what it means to keep your money busy earning all the time so I continue to put a little in the savings bank regularly and, after it accumulates, I draw some out and invest in safe securities that pay a higher rate of interest than savings. All the time, you see, the money is working for me."

"Of course, when the sum is small, it earns little, but if you start young, as you and Molly are, it is almost like magic the way it mounts up after a few years—then when your savings get grown up into a real investment they earn a real income."

"I never thought of it in that light," said George.

"Try it—and see for yourself how it works," urged Aunt Emmy. "Have you ever thought how nice it would be to have a few dollars ready for use in case of an emergency? Accidents and illnesses do happen. Or suppose you had an opportunity to buy something you knew you could sell at a profit and you had to let the opportunity slip for the lack of a few hundred dollars. You and Molly would never miss five dollars a week—and if you keep at it, it will work wonders!"

"You're right, it would!" exclaimed George. "I'll talk to Molly tonight, Aunt Emmy, and see if we can't revise our expenditures."

"There would be a whole lot less family trouble and worry over money matters if every young couple did the same thing early in life," Aunt Emmy said. "Start young," is the magic slogan."
